

Heather Booth Visits UCI!

On January 9, 2019, the UCI Interdisciplinary Center for the Scientific Study of Ethics and Morality hosted the Film Screening “Changing the World” followed by a discussion with Heather Booth, daughter of Jerome Tobis a founding member of the UCI Ethics Center.

This film covers 50 years of movement building organizing by Heather Booth and through her story are lessons about organizing to change the world—to make it more just and democratic. At a time when many are wondering how to make their voices heard, when civil and women's rights are under attack, this empowering documentary is an inspiring look at how social change happens. This is a timely film that arms viewers with methods they can employ to preserve our democratic principles. The goal is to serve as a tool for community organizing, through education and awareness, and as a guide for mobilizing that inspires activism and ignites change.

From a politically conscious college student who began her career in 1964 registering voters in Mississippi at the height of the Civil Rights, anti-Vietnam war, women's movements and continuing through today, Heather became the go-to strategist for causes ranging from child care to women's rights to immigration reform and advisor to leaders.

To learn more about Heather Booth click link

UCI-Political Science students with Heather Booth, Jon Tobis and Host, Professor Kristen Monroe.